

'Final call by party'

Meanwhile, speaking on the BJP election, Moharaj said that in his opinion, there is a need to bring new faces, but BJP is yet to take a stance on the issue. Moharaj has announced that he would resign 80% of the sitting corporators. He also said that last election, there were two groups...

—one BJP the other his. "If BJP continues to keep their senior members and I remove my senior members, it will be an issue," he said. "I will take the party's opinion, and the final decision will be taken by the party." He said that if corporators are not given to new candidates, they can perform better than existing corporators.

Arvalam community members irked over 'illegal' sale of plots, warn of legal action

I was a truly remarkable win. It was the kind of victory that strikes you into the hearts of rivals and makes you proud of your own team.

and where. The sense of being a part of something bigger than oneself, of contributing to the growth of the nation, is a feeling that cannot be described in words.

Of Australia played with the memory of being able to intimidate any team into submission. India played by not remembering that they had lost to a full team-end in a bowling side.

Much of the excitement around the Indian victory in Gabba lay in the prospect of a New India, one that breaks old things lying down. The phrase 'New India' is now being used with a new meaning.

But to see this as a sign of an aggressive New India is to misread the true importance of this victory. It is special because it is not a narrow win, but a win that is a sign of a deep respect for the opponent.

and then pulled off a truly gritty draw against us in Gabba and there would have been little shame in that. But the young team forgot to read the script.

SWEET VICTORY: The most remarkable about the Indian victory against Australia at Gabba was the fact that it was achieved without a trace of anger.

But the most remarkable thing about the Indian victory was something else. It was achieved without a trace of anger. This is what made the victory so sweetly special.

Today's anger is a sign of yesterday's feeling frustrations. It draws on reservoirs of resentment, memories of feeling small or neglected. It claws at barely-healed scars of memories of injustice — real and otherwise.

pressed ahead by pumping oneself up with adrenaline, but by starting oneself on the task, not the opponent.

There is a difference between screaming and aggression, and this is important because it illustrates just how big that difference is. In today's India, we mistake angry posturing with strength.
